

TWO MEN DIE IN WALNUT TRUCK-TRAIN CRASH

LAST SURVIVOR OF FLOYD TRIO PAYS WITH LIFE

Richetti Executed This Morning in Missouri Gas Chamber

Jefferson City, Mo., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Adam Richetti, last survivor of a desperate trio which terrorized the midwest a few years ago, was executed in Missouri's lethal gas chamber early today for his part in the 1933 Kansas City Union Station massacre of four officers and their prisoner.

Death of the sardonic, saw-toothed pal of "Pretty Boy" Floyd blasted the last hope of officials for a first-hand account of the sensational mass murders.

The massacre was a bungled attempt to rescue Frank Nash, an escaped convict, from officers taking him back to Leavenworth, Kas., Federal prison.

Killed in the battle of machine gun, shotgun and pistol fire in the edge of Kansas City's downtown business district were Federal agent R. J. Caffrey; Police Chief Otto Reid of McAlester, Okla.; the night shift and other leading two Kansas City policemen, William J. Grooms and Frank L. Hermonson—and Nash.

Phone Call Cried

A painstaking check of all long-distance telephone calls the night before the massacre, June 17, 1933, finally furnished officers the clue which solved the case.

Richetti was the only one of the three named specifically by the government as the assassin to face trial.

Verne Miller was slain by other gangsters near Detroit.

Floyd, the elusive Oklahoman who began as a small-town bank robber and eventually led his murderous gang throughout the midwest, was slain escaping a trap set by officers in Ohio.

Richetti was caught in the same trap near Wellsville, Ohio, in 1934, returned, convicted of murdering Hermonson and sentenced to die.

Arrest Three Couples for Indiana Robberies

St. Louis, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Three men and three women, arrested by police in a raid on a mid-town hotel Tuesday night, were returned to Indiana last night by Terre Haute detectives to face charges of robbing a filling station and two taverns.

Those arrested gave their names as Mrs. Thelma Sutton, Mrs. Elizabeth Waugh, Mrs. Irene Agnes Walder, Julian M. Trader, Albert L. Turner and Walter E. McGuire.

Police Captain F. X. McCormick said Mrs. Sutton, 22-year-old former Indianapolis stenographer, yesterday personally typed a statement admitting her part and implicating the others in the holdups Monday night.

McCormick said Trader and Turner, both of Terre Haute, had confessed the holdups but had involved Mrs. Sutton was not involved. Confronted with their statements, he said she declared, "If they are men enough to try to protect me, I am man enough to tell the truth."

Nation Plans to Tighten Defense Against Spies

Hyde Park, N. Y., Oct. 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today disclosed the administration was planning to tighten its defenses against activities of foreign spies.

The president, in response to press conference questions, said he was seeking to determine what new machinery might be set up to frustrate efforts by foreign agents to obtain the military and naval secrets of this country.

He mentioned in this connection that it might be possible to effect a closer coordination of the activities of the military and naval intelligence services, the Federal Bureau of Investigation and similar agencies.

Asked whether foreign agents had increased their activities in this country, Roosevelt said he believed there was no marked increase at present, although there had been during the past 10 years.

(Four persons are scheduled to be on trial in New York October 15 on charges of being implicated in a far-reaching espionage plot).

$1,000 BAKERY HOLDUP

Chicago.—(AP)—Ten employees of the Standard Bakery were ordered lined up with their faces to the wall while four robbers ransacked the offices of $1,000 in currency and $900 in checks.

Remark Recalled

New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Those who remember important bits of miscellany may recall a remark once made in connection with a courtroom appearance of Miss Sally Rand—that some people are so pure of mind they would put pants on a horse.

It all came back today in a case which concerned purity not at all, but which did involve a horse with pants on.

The horse owner, Lorenzo Lopopalo, told Magistrate Sylvester Sabbatino: "I like my children. I like my horse. I put pants on my children. I put pants on my horse."

Patrolman Joseph Ryan disrupted the picture of equine sartorial splendor with an assertion that the pants in question concealed the fact that the horse was shod so poorly his forelegs were sprung and that to drive a horse in such condition was cruelty to the horse.

"It's all right for you to love your children and keep pants on them," the magistrate told Lorenzo, "but if you love your horse, keep pants off him, understand? Case dismissed."

CONTEMPT CASE IN LEE COUNTY COURT SETTLED

A bench warrant issued by County Judge Grover W. Gehant this morning brought into the county court, Mrs. Rhoda Musser and four children, the mother to answer to a charge of contempt of court. Mrs. Musser was alleged to have removed her four children, Eunice, Margaret, Loretta and Wesley from the Peek orphanage near Polo in violation of a court order which committed the children to the institution, and taking them to the home of her parents at Pulaski, Iowa, and from that point she was returned to Amboy by a deputy sheriff.

Supervisor Charles Buckingham of Amboy and County Investigator Arthur C. Handell also appeared in court at the hearing. The supervisor informed the court that Mrs. Musser on one occasion had threatened to shoot him, and later stated that the woman staged a half day sit down strike in his office, in making demands for assistance.

After lengthy discussion in the court room, Supervisor Buckingham offered a compromise suggestion which met with the approval of all parties concerned, and was immediately accepted by Judge Gehant. County Investigator Handell left the court room with the mother and four children for Pulaski, where she is to make her home with her parents, receiving a sum of $25 monthly from Lee county as a mother's pension.

Anti-War Pledges

New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Sixty-seven of 93 congressional candidates in New York, New Jersey and Connecticut who have responded to a Daily News poll have pledged themselves without qualification "never to vote to send troops to Europe to fight in any war."

The newspaper, which published the results today, said only five of those responding refused flatly to accept the pledge; and 21 said that, if elected, they would vote to send troops to Europe only under certain conditions, principally those dealing with the possibility of America's being drawn into a European war or invaded and the desire to fight "necessary" wars on other than American soil.

Offer to Benes

Providence, R. I., Oct. 7.—(AP)—President Henry M. Wriston of Brown University today awaited a reply from former President Benes of Czechoslovakia to an offer of a visiting professorship in international relations, with traveling expenses paid to the United States.

Dr. Wriston said the offer was cabled to Dr. Benes at his request by Stephen Duggan, director of the Institute of International Education in New York.

Morgenthau Told He Is Wrong in Approving "Improper" Activities

Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The senate campaign expenditures committee, disagreeing with Secretary Morgenthau, held today to its contention that H. Hampton Magruder, Maryland collector of internal revenue, had been guilty of improper political activity.

The committee wrote the treasury secretary that he was wrong in approving Magruder's actions during the Maryland Democratic primary campaign and asserted it would request the senate to take action.

Morgenthau had advised the committee that he approved Magruder's telling non-civil service employees of his office that, while they were free to vote as they please, he was supporting Rep. David J. Lewis.

The senate committee had called Morgenthau's attention to Magruder's action and asserted it violated the spirit, if not the letter, of the civil service act.

Lewis, President Roosevelt's choice for the senate nomination, lost to Senator Millard Tydings.

The committee also ordered an inquiry into charges of political activity by certain WPA officials and employees in Indiana.

The committee expected to consider today reports from agents who have been investigating charges of political use of public funds in Tennessee and Kentucky.

EUROPE FACING SETTLEMENT OF MINOR AFFAIRS

AP Summarizes Events of Today in Disturbed Nations

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Difficult minority problems demanded attention today in Europe, its face already changed by settlement of the Czechoslovak issue, and in the Holy Land.

In Italy, the fascist grand council laid down anti-Semitic regulations in a series of orders for "defense of the Italian race."

In Palestine, British military authorities attempted to quell guerrilla fighting between Jews and Arabs, both of whom claim the Holy Land as their national home. An Arab movement against British rule, which flared into violence July 5, has caused 1,700 casualties.

Stripped of her Sudeten German minority by cession of the Sudetenland to Germany, Czechoslovakia—described by Premier Mussolini as a "mosaic" state—found a plan to give equality to her two most numerous peoples, the Czechs and Slovaks.

Parity for Slovaks

Three Slovak groups formed a coalition and were granted autonomy within the Czechoslovak state, achieving parity with the Czechs for which they long have clamored.

Premier General Jan Syrový received a Slovak delegation headed by Dr. Joseph Tiso, prime minister of Slovakia, and promised that the government would speed legal changes necessary to make the Slovaks an autonomous unit in the Czechoslovak federal state.

At Geneva officials of the Czechoslovak delegation to the League of Nations said Prague had sent a note to Budapest rejecting a Hungarian demand that Hungarian troops should occupy certain areas of Czechoslovakia before negotiations begin Oct. 9.

New pressure on Czechoslovakia had been foreshadowed in Budapest reports that the Hungarian government was preparing an ultimatum demanding unconditional return of Hungarian minority districts in Czechoslovakia before next Tuesday.

In the Sudetenland, meanwhile, inhabitants joyfully welcomed Reichsfuehrer Hitler into the fourth zone, occupied yesterday by German forces.

Aid for Refugees

Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)—President Roosevelt has sent a message to Prime Minister Chamberlain of Great Britain concerning assistance for political refugees.

It was delivered to Chamberlain through the American embassy in London yesterday.

The state department said today the message did not concern refugees in Czechoslovakia, but declined to elaborate.

An international commission, set up to aid German and Austrian refugees, is now meeting in London.

Boxcar Tombstone

Cleveland, Tenn., Oct. 7.—(AP)—In a railroad box car next to that in which the bullet-scarred body of 17-year-old William Joseph Hartley of Knoxville, Tenn., was a tombstone carrying this chalked inscription.

"Here lies the body of William J. who fled maintaining his right of way. He was dead right as he sped along. But he is just as dead as if he was wrong."

Detective Chief Pat Wells of Knoxville said the youth probably was killed and dumped into the car.

Oppose Moving

Shawneetown, Ill., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Removal of this Ohio river flood-menaced town to a higher and dryer site was opposed today by an organized group of residents.

Al Lowe, chairman of the organization which was perfected yesterday, said members looked with disfavor upon removal of the town—now under way—because they found they were unable to pay their part of the cost.

The complaining residents, he said, desired to remain at the old site, but they had no intention of stopping those who wanted to move to the new location.

More than $1,130,000 has been allotted by the WPA and the Disaster Loan Corporation for building the new town west of here. The state has released an appropriation of $150,000 to purchase the old site for a state park.

COUNTY BENEFIT FROM SOL MAY'S ESTATE $1,343

A settlement of the estate of Solomon May of this city with the board of supervisors was effected at the regular September meeting yesterday, when Glen Coe, executor, deposited with the board the sum of $1,343.81, realized from the sale of the property on Lincoln avenue and Seventh street. By vote of the board, the amount was deposited in the county home fund in compliance with a request made by Mr. May. The county home committee was also empowered to provide a suitable memorial for the donor of the sum.

Mrs. Ellis Kugler of Harmon, of the Lee County Home Bureau, appeared before the board and requested a cash donation to be used in continuing the program of the organization. She also explained the progress being made throughout the county in 4-H club projects. The request was referred to the judiciary committee with power to act.

E. W. Powers, district supervisor of old age assistance, appeared before the board and requested additional office space for the convenience of the department offices in the court house building. The department now occupies a section of the room which formerly was used for examination purpose in the county superintendent of schools offices. The request was referred to the building committee with power to act.

Coal Miners' Homes Sold to Oil Boomers

Eldorado, Ill., Oct. 17.—(AP)—How industrial decay in a coal mining community was helping to solve a housing problem in a "booming" oil area was disclosed here today.

A West Frankfort real estate firm selling all houses in Grayson, an abandoned mining settlement near Eldorado, said some of the dwellings were being moved to the Centralia oil field where housing the fast-increasing population was reported to be an acute problem.

Approximately one-third of the 140 houses formerly occupied by miners during the heyday of the coal mining industry 20 years ago already have been sold. The settlement was abandoned in 1927 when a coal mine its only industry, closed.

At least one of the houses was to be moved to the new site of Shawneetown.

Stork Derby Entrant Charged With Arson

Toronto, Oct. 7.—(Canadian Press)—Mrs. Matthew Kenney, who was declared ineligible to share in the $500,000 Toronto stork derby but collected a $12,500 "consolation" award from the winners, was remanded today to the psychiatric hospital.

Mrs. Kenney had spent the night in jail, held in $3,000 bail on a charge of arson after the fourth fire in four months in homes occupied by the large Kenney family.

She was arrested on a warrant sworn out by Deputy Fire Marshal Walter McConnell after investigation of a fire Tuesday which damaged two floors of the Kenney home.

The 35-year-old mother raced out of a back door and sprinted 75 yards before officers whisked her into a police car.

Mackinaw Truckmen; on Way to Freeport; Instantly Killed in Crossing Accident Last Eve

Apparently Failed to See Approaching Freight Train

Harry F. Hasty, 23, and Louis Tyrrell, 23, both of Mackinaw in Tazewell county, were instantly killed about 8:45 last night when a truck driven by Tyrrell crashed into the engine of a west bound C. B. & Q. freight train at a crossing on route 92 at Walnut.

The truck, loaded with cheese, was bound for Freeport when it came to the up-grade crossing. It is believed the driver was unaware of the train as there are no signal lights to herald its approach.

The engine of the train cut the ton and a half truck in two and the victims had to be pried from the cab. They were dead when removed, their bodies badly mangled.

Inquest This Morning

Harry Nichols, conductor, and F. Presbey, engineer, aided in removing the bodies, which were taken to the Ross funeral home in Walnut.

Coroner Arthur Meyers conducted an inquest at 10:30 this morning and a verdict of accidental death was returned.

C. D. Bennett of Mackinaw was owner of the truck and had hired Hasty as driver to transport the cargo for a Mackinaw cheese company.

There have been a number of accidents at the Walnut crossing but these were the first fatalities.

Troy Patrolmen Die After Asphyxiation

Troy, N. Y., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Two Troy policemen, believed by Police Chief John B. Conroy to have been overcome from the motor of their patrol car, died in a hospital today.

The men, Patrolmen Fred A. Popp, 43, and Frank E. Connelly, 37, were found unconscious in their machine at a gasoline station.

Chief Conroy quoted Frank Eates, the station attendant, as saying the pair drove into the station about 4 a. m., to repair their automobile, leaving the motor running.

Eates took no further notice of the men until he heard a radio alarm from their automobile, asking the whereabouts of the patrol car, at about 7:15 a. m. He then investigated, the chief continued, and found the men unconscious, with all windows in the car closed, apparently to keep out the cold.

Truck Damaged When Gas Becomes Ignited

A truck belonging to H. B. Jones of Albion, Iowa, was considerably damaged yesterday afternoon at 4:15 at the Hayden service station on North Peoria avenue and Everett street. The gas tank beneath the seat of the cab overflowed and when Jones prepared to continue west from the station, he lighted a cigar. The cab of the truck burst into flames and Jones leaped to safety without being burned. The fire department was summoned and after stretching a line of hose, drowned the flames before the gas tank exploded. The cab was badly damaged by the flames but the load of feed was unharmed.

Hunters Hunted

Harrisburg, Ill., Oct. 7.—(AP)—"Wild hog hunters" were being hunted here today.

Last week boar hunting became popular after reports circulated that two razorback hogs, freed during the 1937 flood, had mated with animals neither named or identified and produced offspring that roamed wild and ferocious.

Angered farmers of the nearby Eagle Creek area said today their not-so-wild hogs were being killed and blinded by hunters.

Saying It With Flowers to Herr Hitler Barred by His Commands

Berlin, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler was slightly injured in the face today when an over-enthusiastic Sudetenlander tossed a bouquet of flowers at the fuener, making a triumphal tour of the fourth zone of occupation.

Dispatches from the Sudetenland reporting the incident did not say just where it occurred.

As a result of the mishap the fuener issued a general order that Nazi party leaders henceforth would be held personally responsible for seeing to it that flowers were taken away from all persons along his line of march.

Cubs Beat Yanks

New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs finally beat the New York Yankees today—about them into town by 10 minutes—as both the National and American League champions arrived from Chicago to resume the World Series tomorrow at Yankee Stadium with the Bronx Bombers holding a 2-0 lead in games.

As the Cub special drew into Pennsylvania station, all was quiet. Gabby Hartnett's gang, apparently, still was suffering from shell shock after the Yankee home run guns exploded in their faces in yesterday's second game.

The Yankees, in contrast, were happy and confident, and even happier when Manager Joe McCarthy gave them the day off.

Hartnett and McCarthy made no changes in their pitching selections for tomorrow's game. Hartnett will try with Clay Bryant, McCarthy, whose 1936 and 1937 champions are hoping for a new record of three straight series triumphs, will counter with Monte Pearson.

OFFICERS FACED WITH DEAD END IN BANK HOLDUP

Ottawa, Ill., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Authorities today had only meager clues to aid them in the capture of two men who quickly engineered a $60,000 daylight holdup of two First National bank messengers in downtown Ottawa Wednesday.

One of two men taken into custody yesterday for questioning about the daring robbery were released last night, while the second offered and apparent alibi.

Sheriff Ralph Desper released Dayton Canterbury, 29, of Marshall, Ill., after questioning. Chester Phelps, 38, described by the sheriff as a fugitive from the New London, Ohio, prison farm, remained in custody. Desper said he would be returned to the prison "if we decide to release him."

Desper said Phelps claimed he was working on a farm near Morris at the time of the robbery, while fingerprints of Canterbury and Harry Zenz, who escaped from the prison farm with Phelps, were not similar.

The bank messengers and a woman witness to the holdup were unable to identify either Canterbury or Phelps.

Seek New Record

London, Oct. 7.—(AP)—The British pickaback seaplane Mercury was reported almost halfway to Capetown, South Africa, today on her attempt to make a 6,370-mile flight from Dundee, Scotland, and break the world nonstop distance record.

The British Imperial Airways station at Alexandria, Egypt, intercepted radio signals from the Mercury at 6:35 A. M., G. M. T. (12:35 A. M., C. S. T.) indicating the plane had almost crossed the Sahara desert and was approaching equatorial Africa.

The plane was released from its mother ship, the Maia, yesterday for the attempt to better the 6,296-mile mark made by three Soviet Russian airmen on a flight from Moscow to the United States by way of the North Pole in July, 1937.

Two Die in Flames

Birmingham, Ala., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Two persons died and nine others suffered burns today in a fire which destroyed Vanderbilt Gardens, suburban dance hall and apartment building.

Nearly a score of persons, including two small children, either jumped or were thrown from second-story windows to escape the flames.

J. M. Kirk, 68, and partially deaf, and Mrs. Fannie Lee Forman, 59, were killed when the 3-story frame structure collapsed, only a few minutes after firemen arrived.

Fire Chief Alf Brown, who suffered a burned foot, said the building burned "like tinder." The cause of the blaze was undetermined.

Asks Court Not to Banish Him as Red

Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Joseph Strecker, whose fight against deportation affects the similar case of Labor Leader Harry Bridges, asked the supreme court today to uphold a lower court ruling that he should not be banished from the country as a Communist.

Strecker, who came from Austria in 1912 and now lives in Hot Springs, Ark., argued that he had not paid membership dues to the Communist party except for two months in 1933. The question before the court, he said, was whether past membership was a deportable offense.

The government asked the court to decide whether an alien member of the Communist party was deportable under a 1918 law which provides banishment for any member of an organization which advocates overthrow of the government by force.

The litigation affects Bridges, a west coast C. I. O. leader, in that Secretary Perkins has refused to proceed with deportation charges against him until the Strecker case was settled.

Illinois Third

Chicago, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Illinois ranked third among states in the Union in number of persons employed during August, according to an analysis the Illinois Manufacturers association issued today.

New York and Pennsylvania were first and second, respectively, and Ohio was somewhat lower than Illinois.

In Illinois, 5,239 establishments reported 450,734 on their payrolls and a weekly payroll during the month of $11,427,747. This was an increase over the preceding month of 2.2 per cent in employees and 4.7 in payrolls.

DOWEL PINS ARE NEEDED IN PIER FOR NEW BRIDGE

Change in Type of Construction Forced by Rock Bed

The pouring of concrete for the first pier of the new Galena avenue bridge is expected to be started on Monday or Tuesday of next week. The material bins are now being filled in preparation for starting the big concrete mixer as soon as the crib is in readiness.

The fifth pier from the north shore will be the first to be poured. The diver from Milwaukee has been working on the stone bed of Rock River for two days, making ready for the pouring. Some blasting which was done yesterday about 25 feet below the water level failed to close leaks at the base of the steel sheeting and this method has been abandoned.

To Use Dowel Pins

The plans for construction of the fifth pier have been changed slightly and steel dowel pins will be driven into holes which are being drilled in the rock bed of the river, on which the pier will rest. These pins will be imbedded in the concrete and will prevent any danger of the pier slipping. Thomas Fuhlenweider of Springfield, state bridge construction inspector, was in Dixon this forenoon conducting his regular inspection in the progress of work on the new bridge.

A large suction hose being operated by the diver from the bed of the river is today clearing the rock of sand and gravel, so that drilling operations may be started at once for the holes into which the steel dowels will be driven.

CONVICTED FOR KIDNAPING TWO FROM ST. LOUIS

Minneapolis, Oct. 7.—(AP)—John Couch, 23, was convicted of kidnaping by a federal district court jury today.

Couch admitted abducting Miss Peggy Gross and her escort, Daniel Bailey, Jr., in St. Louis, August 12, and driving them to Minneapolis outskirts where they were left bound, but said from the witness stand he did not consider the incident more than ordinary automobile theft.

The jurors which took the case late yesterday reported last night they had agreed but the court did not receive the verdict until today.

When the verdict was given, Couch raised his manacled hands and shouted "Thank you."

The court referred the case to probation officers pending sentencing which was set for 9:30 A. M. Monday.

Couch who has a prison record, was accompanied on the escape involving the young St. Louis couple by Otis Meridith, who was wounded fatally when the pair was trapped by federal men near Effie, Minn.

Couch faces a possible life sentence.

MANY OBSERVERS SUSPECT HITLER RAN HUGE BLUFF

Fuehrer Plays His Intuition in All His Big Dealings

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press Foreign Affairs Writer

Berlin, October 7 — Now that Fuehrer Hitler has signaled his amazing Czechoslovak coup by a triumphal personal entry into annexed Egerland over flower-strewn roads, it is possible to draw one's breath and consider the prevailing query whether there was an element of bluff in his war threat.

Premier Chamberlain of Britain told a tense House of Commons before the Sudeten settlement that Hitler had declared categorically he would risk world war rather than wait for acquiescence in his demands, I heard Hitler say to Egerlanders in a voice breaking with emotion: "As to you, the nation was ready to unsheathe its swords for you."

What Hitler's innermost thoughts were will perhaps remain his secret, for he is a man who keeps much to himself. But close observers who are permitted a glimpse behind the scenes declare not only did he not want war but would have avoided it by any means short of sacrificing the prestige of his country and of himself.

That doesn't mean he wouldn't have fought as a last resort, for he would, and it would be a mistake not to recognize this.

Expected Surrender

By putting together the oddly-assorted pieces of this puzzle, however, many observers arrived at the conclusion that the Nazi dictator daringly led Europe deliberately up to the edge of a precipice with the firm expectation that his opponents would surrender before it was too late to prevent war.

Hitler works a great deal by intuition, which has guided him unerringly thus far in such achievements as the tearing up of the treaty of Versailles, the remilitarization of the Rhineland and the annexation of Austria. He himself once remarked, "I am like a sleep walker." That is another way of putting the same thing.

His intuition carried him coolly through three weeks of suspense which rocked the whole world and then he quietly accepted the gift that the Munich four-power conference handed him on a salver. Had he taken one step more in the direction of war, mobilized armies of the great powers might have clashed.

All the hoofed animals grow full sets of milk teeth before they develop their permanent sets.

THIS IS A REPUBLIC
"There seems to be nothing but democracy in the comments these days. We read about the 'democracies' such as France and England and the United States, as opposed to the dictatorships, such as Germany and Italy.

The fact is that there are no pure democracies. England is governed by a constitutional monarchy. France is a republic and so is the United States.

A pure democracy is that form of government which would be administered on the town meeting plan, with all the people present to vote on legislation. Presumably the voting could be done by ballot in the voters' own wards, but each measure would have to be voted upon directly by the people.

A republic is a government in which the people elect representatives, such as senators and members of the house, to enact legislation. It once was considered that these representatives were chosen on the basis of their knowledge of principles of government. Today too many of them here and abroad are elected on the basis of what financial pie, such as doles, pensions, and bonuses, they can promise the people. (That process, if carried on long enough, will destroy the republic.)

To illustrate still further: A nation can be likened to a unit of soldiers on the march. In a dictatorship the soldiers would all march at attention, strictly in step, with every motion under direction of the commanding officer. In a republic the soldiers would march at what has been called "route step," all of them going in the same direction and for substantially the same purpose, but not necessarily in step. They could carry their rifles in any fashion, and could be "rugged individualists" to a great extent. In a pure democracy the soldiers would have to have an election at every cross-roads to determine their course.

Perhaps many of us remember with distaste that the revolution in Russia and the historic revolution in France were brought about in the name of democracy, and that each of these incidents disgraced those countries and brought about irreparable damage. The name of democracy has been misused and has been utilized for a camouflage by those who seek to destroy a republican government, the most efficient form yet devised.

BALANCED EDUCATION NEEDED
Why spend time learning "that the capital of Honduras is Tegucigalpa" when the United States is plagued with widespread poverty, high crime rates, unnecessary ill health, bad housing and high pressure propaganda?

The question is asked by the educational policies commission, which is a creation of the National Education association and the American Association of School Administrators.

"Why," asks the policies commission, "spend time learning that there were two Peloponnesian wars and three Punic wars, that Latin words meaning command, obey, please, displease, serve, resist and the like, take the date?"

The only answer to such questions, as we see it, is that a child who is expected to have a fair education must go to school about sixteen years, and in order to get that education he must learn facts. Following the commission's statement, and without verifying it in history and Latin grammar, we assume that there were two Peloponnesian wars and three Punic wars, and that Latin verbs meaning command, obey, etc., really do take the date. We also have reason to believe that the capital of Honduras is Tegucigalpa. If a child is to attain a comprehensive knowledge of history he can't very well leave the era covered by the Peloponnesian wars and the Punic wars a blank, and we submit that history is useful. If some of the gentlemen in Washington today had applied the lessons of history, we would have no New Deal. If the majority of voters had learned to the full the lessons of history, they would throw out the New Deal. If a child is to have a decent knowledge of geography he must know a great many capitals, and he might as well know that the capital of Honduras is Tegucigalpa.

The educational policies commission professes to be concerned with teaching young people how to use their abilities to best advantage, how to read, how to spend leisure time and how to plan one's own life. That, the report continues, is the primary responsibility of the school.

There will be some, however, who will contend that the prime responsibility of the school is to teach facts as compiled by those who write the text books, and leave the theories to be formed by the students when they have attained the age of responsibility. A good work knowledge of Latin, for instance, will help the student to read, write and speak effectively. Physics, history, mathematics and such other useful studies will help him further. Music and other arts, even though he never applies them professionally, will help him to enjoy life and show him how to employ leisure time.

On the other hand there are arguments to support the theory that we need more trade schools for the benefit of those who obviously are not equipped to win degrees, or who do not care for scholastic competition.

REPORT CARD NOTE
The schools have been concerning themselves with the care and feeding of the child's personality as well as his intellect long enough now for the matter to have lost its novelty. But something bobs up in New York that's going to be a little harder for a lot of parents and pupils to accustom themselves to.

Henceforth Johnny will carry home at regular intervals not a mere report card, but a four-page booklet. He'll have to hand over to the folks not only the grades he got in the subjects studied, but the grades he got in everything from habits of play to social consciousness.

There's nothing like keeping track of the younger generation, but what a lot of things Johnny's going to have on his mind from now on! And think of the extra homework it's going to mean for father!

It may, of course, be a great force for improving the personality traits of the older generation, but the experience of the past doesn't offer much encouragement on that score.

"Johnny, you're not playing well at all today," one can imagine the teacher complaining. And Johnny will have to confess that the trouble was that papa had been helping him with his homework again.

Progress: (1) "It's a shame to take the government money." (2) "We might as well get our share." (3) "If they quit giving us our money, we'll fight."

If you have something your acquaintances desire, don't give it up quickly. They like you better while they merely hope.

WASHINGTON—Here is one of the arguments which Roosevelt used with friends of Herbert Lehman to persuade him to run for Governor of New York for a fourth term.

Roosevelt told how he had visited with voters around his own county near Poughkeepsie, particularly Republicans who had nevertheless voted for Lehman.

"Would you vote for Lehman again for Governor?" Roosevelt asked them.

"Yes," was the answer.

"Well, would you vote for Lehman for the Senate?" the President pursued further.

"Well, I'd have to think that over."

"Would you vote for Wagner for the Senate again?"

"Yes," was the invariable answer.

"Well, would you vote for Senator Wagner for Governor?" continued the President's cross-examination.

"I'd have to think that over."

Based on this, Roosevelt made the argument that New York voters, including many Republicans, were well satisfied with Lehman as Governor and Wagner as Senator, but that there might be a drastic change of opinion if the two New York Democrats ran for any other job.

A Little Child Lead

Alfred B. Roosevelt and Jim Farley are credited with the major political miracle of persuading Lehman to run for Governor, the chief credit really goes to a newborn babe.

The baby is Gloria Poletti, the very new daughter of Charles Poletti, New York Supreme Court Justice and intimate friend of Governor Lehman.

The last time he ran for Governor, Lehman wanted Poletti to be his running-mate Lieutenant Governor, but Jim Farley planted his large foot on the idea.

This time, however, Jim was anxious to give Lehman anything he wanted, from Al Smith's Empire State Building to the Statue of Liberty.

So Charles Poletti took Lehman over to see his new baby and while there persuaded the Governor to run once again, this time with Poletti on the ticket for Lieutenant Governor. The baby did the trick.

Wheat and Cotton

Wheat and cotton farmers might as well make up their minds to the fact that all the bellowing of "Cotton Ed" Smith will not make the Administration back down on these two staples commodities.

The South Carolina Senator is in bad with the Administration, but that is not the reason they will refuse his plea. Reason is that New Dealers, particularly Henry Wallace, believe higher loans on cotton and wheat would ruin their export market and work harm for the farmer in the long run.

Export movement is already too slow, with world surpluses in both wheat and cotton. If the loans were increased, the market price would soar above the world price, and importing countries would turn from the high U. S. market to low-price markets.

The only preventive for this is export subsidy, where the Government keeps the domestic price high but sells for export at a loss and meets the loss from the public till. This is already being done in wheat, but the subsidy payments are moderate.

If the wheat loan were advanced from 60 to 86 cents as proposed, the Government would pay a subsidy of about 35 cents for every bushel exported. This is out of the question, not only because the cost would be fantastic, but because it would be done virtually over the dead body of Cordell Hull, who is opposed to all sorts of artificial trade measures.

On His Majesty's Service

While the delegates in Europe were getting the gas masks last week, the staff of the British Embassy in Washington was engaged in presenting a testimonial to one who had been on His Majesty's service for half a century. He was Harry Brown, the Embassy's faithful Negro lackey.

Replying to Sir Ronald Lindsay's speech of presentation, Harry established a new high for diplomatic fealty with the following:

"And I want Your Excellency to know that I stand ready to always serve you. I would go over the top for you or-er-ah . . . underneath!"

Navy Plot

There is serious trouble brewing between Navy brass-hats and union shipyard workers.

In rate charges to the White House, the Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers has accused the Navy Department of playing ball with the National Council of American Shipbuilders in an under-cover scheme to break the union. The President has been warned that unless he makes his naval pets behave, a strike may develop which would seriously impede naval construction in the major shipyards.

The basis of the accusation is the Navy's repeated postponement of letting bids on the new battleships authorized by the last Congress.

The union asserts that there is now only one yard in a position to handle this work—the Camden, N. J., plant of the New York Shipbuilding Corporation. All other yards, it says, are so overloaded with orders that it will be several years before they will be cleared.

The Camden yard has just delivered one light cruiser and is completing several other ships.

Despite the abundance of naval and merchant marine orders, the union alleges, the corporation has for two years deliberately avoided securing new business. The union ascribes this policy to two reasons:

1. To break the union when its contract expires this month.
2. To force the Government to pay a higher price for the new battleships, because the other yards are too overloaded with construction to be able to bid for them.

Labor leaders have protested to the White House that the Navy is playing hand-in-glove with the company by stalling the awarding of contracts for the new battleships. As long as the corporation has no work to complete on time, it can thumb its nose at the union.

Merry-Go-Round

President Roosevelt will spend the last week of the election campaign in New York working for the Lehman-Wagner-Mead ticket.

A forthcoming book on leading columnists will disclose that Walter Lippmann took psychoanalysis treatments.

Strange Church

The Federal Trade Commission has dealt with thousands of business misrepresentations, but it never before has found a matrimonial agency advertised as a "nationally known church organization."

The other day it discovered that a Kansas City promoter was describing his business as a "nationally known church organization" in which "hundreds of love-hungry men and women have enrolled and found love and happiness. They are no longer unloved and unappreciated because the ideal that they have been longing for has actually come into their lives. Your ideal is also waiting for you."

The Trade Commission forced the promoter to "cease and desist."

Grange Convention

To most of the big shots of the National Grange, the city where its annual convention takes place every month—Portland, Oregon—will be enemy territory.

With a few exceptions the Grange has been the most conservative farm leaders in the country. They have opposed many New Deal policies, have repeatedly lined up with Republicans and anti-Administration Democrats against the President.

Grange in the Pacific Northwest is as militant liberal as the national officers are conservative. Headed by State Master Ray Gill and State Overseer Morton Tompkins, the Oregon Grange has led the public ownership movement in the Northwest, is strongly pro-labor and is battling shoulder-to-shoulder with union forces against the initiative proposal that would impose drastic legal restrictions on unions.

So aggressive is the Oregon Grange that Governor Charles Martin, defeated for renomination last spring, once loudly ordered its legislative representatives away from the State Capitol.

Months ago, at the suspected instigation of hostile national officers, the movement was launched to unseat Gill and Tompkins. The campaign proved a flop. Both state leaders were re-elected by overwhelming majorities.

Gill and Tompkins are saying nothing about it, but they plan to take advantage of the fact that the national convention is being held this year on their home grounds to make a determined fight on the Grange's traditional policy of neutrality.

Whether they get anywhere is doubtful, but a hot scrap is certain. (Copyright, 1938, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

"HOT" EVIDENCE IN ESPIONAGE PROBE CLAIMED

New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Evidence which a defense lawyer described as "too hot" to send through diplomatic channels was brought back from Germany by a Federal commission yesterday for the trial of four alleged members of an international espionage ring.

George C. Dix, who returned with three Federal investigators aboard the German liner Europa, said testimony taken in Berlin would "completely exonerate" his client, Johanna Hofmann, 26, former beauty salon operator on the liner Bremen who is awaiting trial on charges of being the "pay off" agent for the spy ring.

The Federal men, assistant U. S. Attorneys John W. Burke and Lester C. Dunigan, and Special Agent John T. MacLaughlin, declined to comment.

Trial of Miss Hofmann and the three other defendants had been postponed until October 14, to await their arrival.

The Federal commission went abroad to take testimony from Dr. Ignatz T. Griebel, former New York physician and a lieutenant in the United States army medical reserve, who fled to Germany after he had been indicted on spy charges.

Dr. Griebel's testimony was taken before the United States Consul in Berlin.

His wife, Mrs. Maria Griebel, held in $5,000 bail as a material witness for the past three months, was released subsequently and sailed incognito on the Italian liner conte de Savoia to rejoin her husband in Germany.

Dix said Griebel's testimony proved his contention that Miss Hofmann was "an innocent tool" in the spy syndicate.

During the fiscal year ended June 30 the state of Illinois collected $80,917,601.00 in sales taxes. Aided by other gains the state closed the year with a net balance of $21,293,717 in its general revenue fund, an increase of $9,785,717.

Answer to Question No. 1
1. Haven't you ever heard a man or woman boast of getting a hat or dress or pair of shoes at "wholesale," or that their favorite store had sent them advance notice of a sale so they could get an inside price? Of course they are glad to save the money but the chief satisfaction is in the feeling of superiority it gives. Your store managers know this when they send you a nicely engraved letter saying, "Owing to your prominence" or your "appreciation of fine goods etc." they invite you to a preview and presale at special prices.

Answer to Question No. 3
3. No. This is just one of those fine bits of poetic license that is so romantic but would destroy all morality and social justice if put into practice. Nothing is fair in love that is not fair in business or ordinary social life. As for war, nothing in it is fair. By its very nature it abrogates all the fairness, justice, beauty, morality and humanness of life. Of course, if one nation invades another it is fair to resist in every way possible, but even here there are certain laws that cannot be broken—particularly the law of non-resistance, the law of non-violence, the law of non-interference. Bringing the condemnation of all civilized or even half-civilized men.

Answer to Question No. 2
2. Never. It is not only sentimental nonsense but extremely dangerous both to the criminals and the public. For example, here is a girl convicted of murder and a group of sentimentalists succeeds in getting her paroled on the ground that she was "only a sweet, innocent 17-year-old child who had never had a chance." She at once took to prostitution and robbery. Thousands of similar and worse examples could be cited. The public has no business trying criminals. If they are not satisfied with their courts they should improve their courts, but trial by public is just a lot of mushy sentiment and injustice.

DON'T MARRY THE MAN

By Jeanne Bowman

The Characters
Kathleen Gregory, taking the name of Cleo Riley, goes West to get a right-of-way from MacDonald for the Gregory Golden Girl mine.

Donald MacDonald, young owner of The Stubbard Boy mine, hates the Gregory clan.

Bridget, Kathleen's companion.

Yesterday, Kathleen flares up when Donald tells her he can't stand red hair and the disposition that goes with it.

Chapter Eight
Hate At First Sight

Blindly Kathleen hurried from the hotel and blindly hurried the street. She would stifle if she drew another cubic inch of MacDonald air.

The insolence of the man! He was spoiled . . . Probably by his grandfather, she had mentioned. But what made him think he could talk to her in that fashion?

She walked on. The pavement on the Gregory side of Neutrality stopped at the end of the business section. The MacDonald pavement continued on to a lodge, the windows gay with Indian serapes.

"The House of Hate," she said with sudden understanding. There was the log cabin which had housed her grandfather and the grandfather of MacDonald before their feud had started. And because neither would give in to the other they had built their homes beyond the divided halves of that cabin.

"What a stubborn old rascal!" she chuckled, and made her way to the wide Gregory veranda, to curl up in the sun and sit dreaming of those other days.

The view was magnificent. Kathleen felt she had been lifted to another realm. Neutrality was visible below and seemingly as peaceful as its name. Beyond were the colored cliffs and beyond these, mountains, their sides dark with fir and capped with snow.

And then into the quiet moment intruded the sound of an approaching motor. Watching the road, she saw a car appear. It sped rapidly then swerved into the driveway of the other house. A moment later Donald MacDonald hailed her from the street below.

"Why can't you come up here?" she countered evenly, as he suggested her joining him.

"Forbidden territory," he replied. "If a Gregory saw me crossing the line, he'd shoot before he saw the whites of my eyes."

"How childish," she pronounced. "What would happen if a Gregory man crossed to your side?"

"Only one man has ever tried it. But then Old Baldy knows no barriers."

Interested, Kathleen descended slowly. "And who is Old Baldy?"

"A Gregory shift boss. He lives down the line, first house from here."

Kathleen nodded. "I noticed it. Is his name really Baldy?"

"No, it's Campbell. Baldy's a nickname. He's queer, religious."

Kathleen smiled. "So Neutrality doesn't go for religion, either?"

MacDonald returned her smile and again she wondered at its quality. "Oh yes, there are two Presbyterian churches here. Neutrality goes to each on alternate Sundays. But let's forget the old fellow. You have me apologizing again. I'm really sorry I offended you. I don't understand why I've been so rude every time we've met."

Kathleen studied him a moment. She could like him if he were not a MacDonald. It was the MacDonald disposition, of course, which spoiled him. However he was generous in his apology.

"I haven't been exactly courteous to you," she conceded.

"Then we can be friends? Declare an armistice? Shake on it?"

"What's wrong?"

Across the barrier their hands met. Kathleen's clasp was firm and in her eyes was a slight laughter. "Then twenty-four hours after she'd met him, Donald MacDonald was shaking hands with a 'damned Gregory.'"

"Won't you come up to my veranda? I've a grand view from there and my housekeeper will whisk up some coffee to take the place of that you left in the grill."

"Thank you, another time. Bridget and I must find living quarters. Your hotel is lovely but if she is going to write she needs quiet and both want something less expensive. Mayme wasn't very hopeful, she said we hadn't a chance of finding anything to rent. What do you think?"

MacDonald shook his head. "There isn't a house in Neutrality, unless you could rent the Gregory half of this."

"You mean this one here?" asked Kathleen in surprise.

"Isn't this where the owner lives?"

"He'dy. He hasn't been here since his father died. Only stayed an hour then. He's not man enough to rough it."

Kathleen's throat worked convulsively as she swallowed her retort. Her father, who disappeared regularly into the wilds of Canada to set a pace for his guides, condemned in this fashion?

"But would you call living here, roughing it?" she managed.

"There's no steam heat, no electricity, nothing but the old house built fifty years ago without modern improvement added."

"Bridget and I could manage," Kathleen countered confidently.

"Now if we just can find the parties who have the renting of it, or would you handle it for us?"

"Well," exploded MacDonald, "I wouldn't even call on Miss Donald here in that house!"

Kathleen wheeled. This was more than she could take. "With an incentive like that I know we're going to rent it," she flashed over her shoulder.

Two steps away she was arrested by a roar of laughter. Indignant, she swung back. MacDonald was shouting his amusement. Head thrown back, white teeth gleaming, he was laughing at her.

ENOS KEITHLEY, DIXON, SUBJECT OF PAPER STORY

Madison, Wis., Feature Writer Has Tale Concerning Dixonite

Concerning E. T. Keithley of Dixon, who will address the Prairieville P. T. A. this evening at 8 o'clock on the "American Indian," Betty Cass, feature writer for a Madison, Wis., paper, recently wrote in her column "Madison Day by Day," as follows:

ENOS KEITHLEY, of Dixon, Ill., is a famous collector and re-counter of stories in his country and whenever he comes to Madison, once or twice a year, he hunts up Charles E. Brown, who holds more or less the same position hereabouts, and the two of them exchange the best tales which they have collected since they last saw each other.

This morning, which was a perfect time for gathering around a fireplace over a pipe and telling stories, Mr. Keithley showed up for his semi-annual visit . . . and out of the web of yarns which they spun, I like this one (which was Mr. Keithley's best):

One day three cowboys came to Pecos Bill, who was the help of all cowboys, bringing 24 head of cattle and asking Pecos Bill to divide them equally between the three of them. None of them had any learning they said, and therefore, could not figure how many each should have.

Pecos Bill, the all wise, said that the thing to do was to put down 24 and divide 3 into it, and taking a charred stick from the fire, he worked on the mathematical problem on a nearby flat stone like this:

Three won't go into 2, but it will go into 4 once with one left over. He put the three under the 4 of the 24 and subtracted, leaving 21. Then he saw very readily that 3 went into 21 seven times . . . so he placed the 7 after the 1 in the answer column . . . and told the men that they should each have 17 cattle.

The three cowboys tried to divide the cattle according to Pecos Bill's logic, but there seemed to be something wrong. The cowboys didn't like to doubt Pecos Bill's word, but one of them said, "I went to school one day and they told us something about how to prove whether a problem was right or not."

The cowboy took the charred stick then, wiped Pecos Bill's figuring off the flat stone with his boot, and figured the "proof" to the problem this way:

"If each of us should have seventeen of the 24 cattle," he reasoned, "then I should add three seventeens together to see if it comes out right." So he wrote three 17's in a column over each other and added.

He added the three 7's in the first column and wrote 21 as the total. Then he added the three 1's in the first column and got 3 and added it to the 21, making 24.

"Pecos Bill is right!" he concluded triumphantly. "It all adds up. Each of us should get 17 cattle."

FANFARE—

By DON DANIELSON

The Dixon high school grid team will play at Belvidere next week end. The game was originally scheduled for Saturday afternoon, but has been shifted to Friday night. That's Oct. 14, so make your plans early.

There's a rumor running around today that one of the star pitchers we all know is soon to become the victim of a double play. The wedding bells are being tuned and the ring selected.

Bo McMillin will pay his first visit with his "pore little boys" from Indiana to the Illinois stadium tomorrow where it is expected that upwards of 20,000 persons will see a colorful and thrilling battle. McMillin's boys come into this state with the prestige of a splendid although unsuccessful game against Ohio State when they out-gained the Buckeyes 16 first downs to six and threatened them with a skillful passing attack, led by Joe Nicholson, sophomore from Evansville, Ind.

Wonder what the Cubs are talking about on their way to New York? Two bits it isn't Norma Shearer vs. Shirley Temple.

Next week's guest picker is to be Bert Cummings who needs no introduction. Clean up man in the batting order will be William A. Underwood, Jr. on Oct. 15. Going back to Harry Grayson, again, that NEA writer says: Brown over Lafayette; Duke over Colgate; Cornell over Harvard; Kansas State over Missouri; Vanderbilt over Kentucky; Rice over Louisiana State; Southern Methodist over Marquette; Tulane over North Carolina; Southern California over Ohio State; Yale over Pennsylvania; Pittsburgh over Duquesne; Stanford over Washington State; Texas Christian over Temple; Tennessee over Auburn; Oklahoma over Texas; Washington over U. C. L. A. That's all!

A number of local fans will attend the Northwestern-Drake game at Evanston tomorrow afternoon. Bill Underwood of Dixon is a co-captain of the team and Francis Henry, another Dixon fellow, plays varsity halfback. Don Barnhart who plays tackle is another from this neck of the woods who may see action in the game. It almost becomes "Dixon vs. Northwestern"—in a manner of speaking.

Coaches C. B. Lindell and Marv Winger are planning to take 40 Dixon high school football players to Mendota tomorrow if transportation can be arranged.

Now for some serious business! The Dixon high school football players slopped through the rain at Rock Falls Sept. 24 making more mud pies than their hosts to win 6 to 0; they surprised even themselves at Rockford when they held the Rams to a 13 to 6 victory; and last Friday triumphed over Geneseo in a game that was two hours late.

But now the preliminaries are over as the Purple gets down to brass tacks and squares off for the first North Central conference contest with Mendota tomorrow afternoon.

After the local gridders finally got home in the wee hours of the morning from Geneseo, they rested up the next day while Coach C. B. Lindell and a few of his warriors scouted the Mendota-Belvidere beef toss. Looking the situation over carefully, the Dixon mentor is none too sure the Mendota meeting will be easy pickings. "It's the biggest team Mendota has had in the ten years I've coached here," Lindell commented yesterday. "And frankly, I think Mendota had the better team of the two last Saturday."

Will Be a Battle. It's to be a battle—this first conference game, "Mendota," the Dixon coach continued, "earned its touchdown by a straight march down the field and suffered a bad break at the end of the game when they had pushed to the five yard line as the game was over. Belvidere, the other hand, scored both touchdowns on long runs. Once on a

IT'S FIRST AND TEN FOR PICKER JACK FRITZLEN

Second Guest Writer is Out in the Clear as He Aims for Goal

There isn't any reason for the sports department to stick its neck out with any pigskin picks this season—we get our head chopped off without doing that. First O'Malley swings the axe and today, Guest Picker Fritzlen sends the poison arrow home. Jack, in picking 'em today, is torn between two loves. "Fritzen-bush" comes from down Indiana-way (the land of the free and the home of basketball) and was graduated a few years ago from the University of Illinois. Tomorrow Bo McMillin's "pore little boys" invade the Illini camp and in picking the winner Jack torn off five fingernails. But Hoosiers are loyal cuses, and Jack says "Indiana" and holds his breath. There's the whistle, Fritzen, we're kicking-off to you—now you carry the ball where it is first down and ten for you.

By JACK FRITZLEN
I've been trying to figure out some "sure" method of picking these football games for the past five years and just when I thought I'd finally solved the problem, "Fanfare" Danielson denied me the right to wait until 4:30 Saturday afternoon to make my selections. Claimed it would make the paper late, but I personally think he was afraid that I would see a higher percentage than he would be able to attain when he finally sticks his neck out the day he predicts. Forbidden this privilege, I decided to pick twenty games such as in last week's schedule, namely, Manlius versus Morrisville Aggies or Lowell Textile versus Panzer. Then, no one in the vicinity should know who they were, let alone know who defeated which. But again, Danielson thought this wouldn't be quite "cricket" so here goes:

Notre Dame—Georgia Tech: "Tried and true" after that 52 to 0 scrambling of Texas can be said of the Irish along with that "Trite but true" manner of indicating the choice: Notre Dame will be "Marching through Georgia" this Saturday. Shall we say 26-0?

OHIO STATE—USC: The Buckeyes will duplicate Alabama's feat and even their series with Howard Jones' boys who are supposed to be on the upgrade this year. Schmidt has his boys geared for touchdowns this week end and the lads from Southern California will chase about three Ohio stalwarts across the touchdown lane while getting none themselves.

NORTHWESTERN—DRAKE: Local interest in this game will be high but not as high as the score Northwestern will roll up. Still Drake should bounce back after St. Louis upset and hold it down from being too embarrassing. Northwestern 27-0.

INDIANA—ILLINOIS: Bo McMillin's "pore little boys" are laboring (just as the Illini) under illusion that first downs win ball games rather than planting the leather on the scoring terra firma, so it's hard to tell what will happen. Probably a repeat of last year's 13-6 victory for Indiana.

Wisconsin—Iowa: Just 100 miles away is a team that should make a few football headlines this year if all goes as planned at Camp Randall. Stuhldreher will not have to "open up" too much against Iowa. (I mean Niles Kinnick.) It should be comparatively easy. The Badgers, 20-0.

PURDUE—MINNESOTA: "Wish I hadn't come from down Indiana way, shore hate to see our fellows get the stuffs licked out there by them thar durned Swedes." So, with a sigh of futility, the Gophers 13-0.

CHICAGO—MICHIGAN: Aha! I light on this game with fiendish glee, for here I can actually foresee an accurate forecast. Fritz Crisler, true to Princeton tradition, has learned that Kiski Prep DOES have football players, so he brought three out West with him. Kromer and company will have a field day. With emphasis, Michigan, 32-0.

SOUTHERN METHODIST—MARQUETTE: Played tonight in Chicago. The Mustangs will find quite a few good spots in the Windy City to celebrate their third victory of the season. CMU by 14-6.

IOWA STATE—NEBRASKA: It won't be long till cornhusking time and who can husk better than Nebraska's Cornhuskers? 13-0.

COLUMBIA—ARMY: Into the Eastern games and a tough one right off. A bat Columbia beat a good Yale team last week. Army drubbed a supposedly strong Wichita team, So with a hesitant decision: Columbia 7-6.

PITTSBURGH-DUQUESNE:

Rather easy to the eye at first but remember that 2-0 upset two years ago? And Pitt could only beat the Dukes 6-0 last year. These two battle more furiously than the Cubs-Sox or Dixon-Sterling. It's a natural Dixon-City rivalry and all those folks who have missed seeing the Yankees sweat 'em over the walls of Forbes Field in the "World Series that didn't happen" can spend their refunded one-day for this game. A close one, I think. Pitt by 13-7. (Now don't let me down, Duke!)

DARTMOUTH-PRINCETON:

Fritz Crisler won't be in the sarge predicament as Cholly Grimm was for Princeton won't be in the winning seat in this fracas. The Hampshire boys, 26-6.

CORNELL-HARVARD: No matter what happens the boys will still have their jolly old accent Saturday eve, but they will probably raise their eye-brows and say "My Word!" when they see the Cornell score, coming right after the Brown drubbing. Back Bay Boys Beaten Badly.

ALABAMA-CAROLINA-TULANE: "Tulane ain't what she usta be." N. C. 19-0.

AUBURN-TENNESSEE: The Vols trounced a strong Clemson eleven last week so should take the Plainsmen who could get no better than a draw with Tulane. Tennessee 14-0.

TEXAS A & M-SANTA CLARA: Both teams are strong this year. The Broncos have the advantage of the home turf in San Francisco and this should keep the game from the tie if looks. Anyway a one point advantage to Santa Clara. Oh, well, make it two!

UCLA-WASHINGTON: Surprised at Washington's failure to beat Idaho last week, but then Oregon put UCLA on the skids after the Uclans had beaten Iowa, so a nod to the Huskies, 7-0.

DUKE-COLGATE: An inter-sectional tilt with the expensive lads from Durham taking the "bull (get it?) by the horns" and beating Colgate, 14-7.

TEXAS CHRISTIAN-TEMPLE: Pop Warner's boys will watch the cowboys go by tonight just as they felt the Panthers come through last Saturday. TCU 13-0. AND...don't say I didn't tell you if MILLSAPS beats the Arkansas Teachers!

YOUNG MAN WEST WEST Berkeley, Calif., Oct. 7—(AP)—The Poughkeepsie Regatta may be homecoming in a couple of years for Israel Kass, 107-pound Poughkeepsie lad who is one of the outstanding coxswain candidates for the California freshman crew.

TROUBLE AHEAD East Lansing, Mich., Oct. 7—Usif Haney, Michigan State varsity halfback, has a brother coming up on the freshman squad whose first name will stump a lot of sports writers and printers. It's Shaheen.

Yanks Take Second Game

Home runs by Frank Crosetti and Joe DiMaggio, each scoring a man ahead of him, won the second World Series game in Chicago for the New York Yankees, boosting their score to 6 runs over the Cubs' 3. Here DiMaggio gets a hand from Lou Gehrig (No. 4) as he completes his homer in the ninth inning.

This and That About Series

Chicago, Oct. 7—(AP)—The Yankees won the ball game, but long after the score lies buried and forgotten in the record books they'll still be talking about the guy who lost, yet won—Dizzy Dean.

In the lengthening shadows yesterday afternoon at Wrigley Field, '01 Diz trudged off the mound and slowly disappeared into the Cubs dugout. It was the ninth inning and the score was 6 to 3 in favor of New York. In the box score, Dizzy was the losing pitcher. But to Manager Hartnett of the Cubs and thousands of fans he was the winner of respect they'll hold for him many years after he finally hangs up his glove.

"Diz, old boy, you gave me everything," said Hartnett after a game in which Dean had allowed the powerful Yanks only seven hits. Over in the Yank dressing room, Joe McCarthy pointed to his heart and said slowly: "The guy really has it here."

The reaction of the hundreds of baseball writers to Dean's defeat was high tribute to the big-hearted hurler with the sore and tired arm. As special buses carried the writers to hotels and trains, scores of arguments developed over whether Dean's losing was a "better story" than if he had won. Almost all agreed that had Diz won they would have had the opportunity of writing one of the greatest sports stories of the age.

Tomorrow Clay Bryant, tall right-handed fastballer, goes for the Cubs, with Nonte Pearson likely to chuck for the cocky Yanks. Bryant bagged 19 games this season while going 11. Pearson's record is 16 won and 11 lost.

The Cub lineup is scheduled to be the same tomorrow as that which battled the Yanks so valiantly yesterday, except for Bryant doing the tossing. Joe Marty, who replaced Phil Cavarretta as cleanup hitter and has three for four, will continue in right field and again bat fourth.

Joe DiMaggio, who went hitless in the first game, had two hits in four trips yesterday and his second safety still may be bounce-ron. DiMaggio really teed off on his ninth inning homer which also cleared the left field wall by at least 60 feet. It was then that Jerome Herman Dean bowed out—a beaten pitcher but still a winner to thousands in the hushed stands. And as he dragged his lanky frame into the dressing room he tossed his glove to a bench and said: "Boys, I just threw myself out, I guess."

BIG TEN CAMPS MAKE READY FOR WEEK END TILTS

Chicago, Oct. 7—(AP)—The Big Ten football armies polished off offenses today for one of their biggest Saturday demonstrations of the season.

Every member will be in action tomorrow and all but Ohio State and Northwestern, who meet next week, will be involved in conference warfare.

Ohio State will take on Southern California in an inter-sectional battle while Northwestern's Wildcats will attempt to further sharpen their claws for Ohio at the expense of Drake.

Minnesota and Purdue both undefeated in two non-conference encounters, supply the Big Ten headliner at Minneapolis.

The Golden Gophers, after their secret practice sessions most of the week, rank the favorites in their first move toward another harvest of conference honors. However, the Bolleermakers might show surprising disregard for Minnesota's power, as displayed in two games against strong non-conference elevens.

Coach Mal Elward has drilled two flet backfields to throw at the slower Gophers, but said the Bolleermakers' chances of victory depended on how well the Purdue forward line operated. As a result, yesterday found Coach Bernie Bierman and Minnesota still stressing defensive tactics.

Iowa went through an intensive drill for Wisconsin, which will have plenty of reserve power to wear down the Hawkeyes. Chicago had a defensive workout in preparation for Michigan, which

SERIES APPEARS ALL WRAPPED UP FOR THE YANKEES

Something Went Out of Baseball As Dizzy Left the Game

Enroute to New York, Oct. 7—(AP)—Except for the fashionable huzzahs that will be sounded about Sunday night in the Yankee Stadium, that glittering gathering place of baseball's socialites up in the Bronx, the 1938 World Series appears to be all wrapped up.

The Yankees are too good. Too good for the Chicago Cubs, and possibly too good for the future of baseball. As the two clubs head into New York to resume the unequal contest Saturday with the Yankees already twice victorious, there isn't much to wonder about except whether Colonel Jake Ruppert's super team will make it four straight.

The general belief on this railway carriage is that they will. When Frank Crosetti and Joe DiMaggio rapped those late inning home runs to beat Dizzy Dean, 6 to 3, yesterday, the most obstinate backers of the Cubs gave up.

If the Yanks had done it sooner it wouldn't have been quite so bad. But they messed along and let Diz look like the biggest hero since Sergeant York for seven and two-thirds innings. Then they reached out and slapped him down. It seemed like something went out of baseball when Dean shuffled off the field in the ninth with a final quick glance at the left field wall that had wrecked his hopes.

Need a Miracle Now

What chance the Cubs had of outgaming or outlucking the world champions in the series went off the field with Diz. If he had won his great effort by the score of 3 to 2 as it looked like he would going into the eighth, then the series might have developed into a dog fight. But no club, barring a miracle, can spot this Yankee team two games.

For those who are impressed by seasons, yesterday's was the 20th victory scored by the Yankees in their 23 World Series games since 1927. No club ever before so dominated the game. Their weakest member, Frankie Crosetti, lighted the opening game with his fielding and yesterday the little shortstop with the piping voice hit the homer that virtually settled the series. Maybe that is significant.

It is a happy job pitching for the Yankees. Vernon "Lefty" Gomez yesterday became the first pitcher ever to win his sixth straight World Series victory without having suffered a loss, and El Goofey was enjoying a nice warm shower at the time.

Lefty, who had been maced right merrily by the Cubs as they ran up their 3 to 2 lead in the early innings, had retired for a pinch-hitter just before Crosetti's buggy-whipped Dizzy's "fast ball" into the bleachers in the eighth. In fact, it was the pinch-hitter, Myril Hoag, who rode in on the big punch, so that made Lefty the winning pitcher.

DiMaggio's "Afterthought"

DiMaggio's mighty blow in the ninth with Henrich on base seemed an afterthought, for the game already was won and lost. The tall Italian caught the first pitch, a slow "nothing ball," and practically knocked it out of sight. He said later he believed it was the hardest ball he had hit all year. By that time the crowd of 42,000 loyal Cub rooters was beyond all pain.

For tomorrow's engagement, the Yankees haven't any one to call upon except Monte Pearson, who recently pitched a no-hitter and who stopped the Giants in the third World Series game a year ago. He has worked out hard the last two days and apparently has recovered from the illness that threatened to keep him out of the classics. The Cubs, having gambled and lost on Dean yesterday, must pin their scant hopes on young Clay Bryant, a fastballer like Bill Lee, whom the Yankees peeled in the first game.

Incidentally, the success of the Yanks against Lee was due largely to the fact that their coach, Earl Combs, stood on the third base line and tipped off the batter what was coming on every pitch, a member of the Chicago club revealed today. Combs, it seems, could tell by the way Lee wound up what he had in mind and he would give a quick whistle or something to warn the batter. If those Yankees don't have one thing, it's something else.

Northwestern also drilled on defense. Ohio State eased up on its forward passing offensive to polish off running plays.

On the Side

Bits of Gossip of Sports Picked Up by AP Writer

BY EDDIE BRIETZ

New York, Oct. 7—(AP)—The Yankee jockey department, ably headed by Prof. Art Fletcher, is riding the hide off the Cubs for not giving Grimm a series cut. . . . Some eastern writers are hinting Jimmy Fox's ducked the last game of the season to guard against losing the batting championship. Say it ain't so, Jimmy. Charlie Bachman, Michigan State coach, has been wearing the same pair of shoes to football games for ten years.

They say Bill Terry is trying to trade Hank Leiber for Vince DiMaggio. . . . Colonel Ruppert wired his Newark and Kansas City clubs he hopes both would win the "Little World Series." . . . Michigan fans and alumni are delighted with the way Fritz Crisler is starting out at Ann Arbor.

Wayne La Master, the Dodge pitcher, wired Billy Herman to get him a pair for the series, but Herman wouldn't do it because he said LaMaster gets him out too often. They're trying out portable goal posts at Rockford, Ill., tonight in a high school game between Rockford and Chicago's John Marshall. . . . All isn't hunky dory in the Holy Cross grid camp. Coach Eddie Anderson has had to put a couple of the boys in the doghouse as a disciplinary measure.

As soon as the series is over, Rip Collins will go on a six weeks' vaudeville tour with Pepper Martin's Mudcats at $300 per week. . . . There will be more football scouts than you can count in Atlanta tomorrow when Notre Dame plays Georgia Tech. . . . The gumshoe men want to see if what they read about those goings on at South Bend last week is really so. . . . Chicago scouts report the look like the biggest hero since Sergeant York for seven and two-thirds innings. Then they reached out and slapped him down. It seemed like something went out of baseball when Dean shuffled off the field in the ninth with a final quick glance at the left field wall that had wrecked his hopes.

After watching Joe Gordon handle the second base chores, National leaguers put the O. K. on him too. . . . That makes it unanimous. . . . The Chicago Cardinals of the National football league are the only team in the circuit which doesn't have at least one former Big Ten athlete under contract. . . . Goofy business this: Without making a hit, Jordan beat Shakoep in a Minnesota Valley league title game. . . . Bill Meyer, manager of the Kansas City Blues received a wire from the Australian cup team members who learned all about baseball in Kansas City wishing him luck in the series with Newark.

SPRING VALLEY GAME HERE WILL CLOSE SEASON

Spring Valley Merchants, champions of the Illinois Valley league with a record of 15 straight victories and no defeats, will tackle the local Dixon team at Reynolds field Sunday afternoon at 2 P. M. Spring Valley has in their lineup two players, Bob Chaidar and Joe Martinkus, who played in the Cotton State league this year.

This is the last ball game in Dixon this season and the local team will end its year at Walton Sunday, Oct. 16 when they play Walton at the annual homecoming. In that game both the local club and Walton will be strengthened with Chicago White Sox players in their line-ups.

The local line-up for the Spring Valley game Sunday will be: Kuhn, lf; Flanagan, 3b; Martin or A. Carlson, rf; Miller, cf; Lebre, ss; Windmiller or Mulcahy, c; H. Prestegard, p; Bus Carlson, 2b; Leonard, 1b.

Ole Prestegard, who has pitched great ball for the local team all season and was forced to give up pitching in the fourth inning in the West Brooklyn game due to a sore arm, may retire from the game. If that is true the fans in this part of the country will miss Big Ole who has been a real success on the mound.

In an average 2½ hours moving picture the eye sees 200,000 separate pictures.

GOVERNMENTAID IN RESEARCH IS PLEA OF SAVANTS

Chicago, Oct. 7.—(AP)—More extensive participation by the federal government in scientific research was termed "both logical and desirable" today by Thomas Parran, Surgeon General of the U. S. Public Health Service.
The public is "entirely willing to support further studies to solve those problems of health and disease which still baffle us," Dr. Parran said in an address prepared for delivery at the dedication of a new research building of Abbott Laboratories in North Chicago.
He declared the fountain-heads of private philanthropy for scientific research "seem to be drying up" and, hence, it appeared logical that the federal government "assume a larger responsibility for leadership in scientific research."
Another speaker, Dr. Karl T. Compton, president of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, also said the main sources of support for research were diminishing.
"If present economic and political tendencies continue," Dr. Compton said, "I see only one ultimate source of support—the government, through taxation for the general public benefit."
Dr. Compton said it was likely that government support of research in universities would grow to larger proportions. However, the assumption of the entire burden by the federal government would, he said, entail the risks of "entrenching another bureaucracy" and of directing funds "toward objectives appealing to the imagination of blocks of voters rather than toward the most fundamental advancement of knowledge."

Competition for AP Panel Closed Today

New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—With a field of 185 sculptors from 26 states, competition closed today for the design of a bronze panel depicting the theme of "News" to be installed over the main entrance of the new Associated Press building in Rockefeller Center.
A first prize of $1,000, and second and third prizes of $500 and $250, will be awarded by a jury of five prominent men. The decision will be announced early next week.
An additional sum of $6,500 will be awarded the first prize winner for execution of the design, if his entry meets with the approval of Rockefeller Center, Inc., and The Associated Press.

The competition, which has attracted a widely representative national group of sculptors, was directed toward further cementing the relationship between industry and art as interpreted in various forms in the decoration of Rockefeller Center.
Members of the jury include John Gregory, president of the National Sculptors' society; Holger Cahill, national director of the federal art project; Wallace K. Harrison and L. Andrew Reinhardt, architects of Rockefeller Center; and Lloyd Stratton, assistant general manager of The Associated Press.

Is Commercial Road

Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)—An Interstate Commerce Commission examiner recommended today that the commission find that the Chicago, North Shore & Milwaukee Railroad was not exempt from the provisions of the railway labor act.

JEWS HIT AGAIN BY NEW ITALIAN 'DEFENSE' MOVE

Rome, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Italy struck at "world Hebrewism" as the "inspiration of anti-Semitism" today by forbidding intermarriage of Jews and Italians and restricting Jewish economic activity.
The fascist grand council laid down the anti-semitic regulations in a series of orders for "defense of the Italian race" which evidently were imbued with the spirit of empire.

Many of the new restrictions were directed against Jews, but lines to affect "African, Semitic and other races" than Italian.
The grand council declared the necessity for "race consciousness" to be urgent "since the conquest of empire" and called for "quantitative and qualitative betterment" of the Italian race.

It made two concessions to Jews in line with Premier Mussolini's promise of moderation in his speech at Trieste September 18, exempting Jews who had served the country meritoriously in war and holding out the possibility of sanctuary for Jews in Ethiopia.

Life is Limited

Special economic and political restrictions prohibited Italian Jews from belonging to the fascist party, owning or managing business firms employing more than 100 persons, owning more than 50 hectares (123.5 acres) of land, or entering Italy's military services.
Further Jewish immigration was banned and expulsion of "undesirables" was supported. This referred to the cabinet decree of August 1, ordering all Jews who have settled in Italy since Jan. 1, 1919, to leave the country.

At Trieste, Mussolini stated the world would be surprised at the moderation of Italy's anti-Jewish measures. Fascists said this moderation was found in the series of explicit exception and guarantees laid down by the grand council.
The exceptions extended to families of decorated war veterans, of volunteers and of soldiers killed in the World, Libyan, Ethiopian and Spanish wars, families who may be adjudged worthy by a special commission, and families of those killed or wounded in fighting for the fascist cause.
In addition, the council exempted from the expulsion order foreign Jews over 65 years of age and all who had married Italians before October 1, this year.

College Birthday

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Bradley college celebrated the 42nd anniversary of its founding today at 11 A. M. with services in the college chapel.

Familiarly known as the "Hill-top College," Bradley was founded by Mrs. Lydia Moss Bradley, who provided funds for creation of the campus and buildings and also for an endowment fund.

Two men actively connected with the school at its founding were to be present today.
They were Zealy Holmes, only surviving member of the original board of trustees, and Prof. C. E. Comstock of the mathematics department. A principal speaker was to be Ralph Bailey, a son of O. J. Bailey, who was president of the first Bradley board of trustees.

A gourd changed the entire history of the South Sea Islands. By sighting through holes in a water-filled calabash gourd, ancient Polynesian navigators were able to take readings from the sun and the stars, thus enabling them to roam over the entire South Pacific ocean.

HENRY WALLACE PLANS CAMPAIGN FOR HIS SCHEME

Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace observed his 50th birthday anniversary today by preparing oratorical ammunition for perhaps his stiffest fight of his official career—defense of his program for farm prosperity.

That program, embodied in the crop control act passed by the last congress, has come under severe attack in the cotton, wheat and corn areas particularly. Substitute proposals have bobbed up everywhere.
Already there are indications of an attempt to substitute governmental price-fixing at the coming session of congress.
Because of the prospective congressional fight, Wallace plans to spend much of his time during the next two months attempting to rally farmers behind the existing law.

His next speech will be made in the heart of the corn belt, at Springfield, Ill., October 14.

Wallace conceded today that his program had not yet achieved its goal, but contended that without the legislation farm prices would be considerably lower.

Given time to work excessive surpluses into domestic and foreign trade channels, the legislation will do more, he said, than any other plan proposed to place agriculture on a basis of permanent prosperity.

He suggested, however, that congress strengthen the present program by enacting processing taxes to finance greater subsidies to

Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Officials said today the agriculture department would put greater emphasis on finding new domestic markets for surplus farm products when reorganization ordered by Secretary Wallace has been completed.

Wallace last night ordered drastic changes in the organization of the department and shifts of many of the top-ranking officials into new posts.The changes, effective October 16, will consolidate in one bureau all the department's marketing activities, including regulation of the nation's commodity and livestock markets. These at present are divided among several bureaus.All research also will be

AAA, will carry out and administer programs developed by the planning bureau.Wallace said the new marketing division would give the department opportunity to "devote the same concentrated attention to marketing that we now devote to production and conservation." It will be directed by A. G. Black, who has been head of the bureau of agricultural economics.Officials said the reorganization did not mean there would be any basic changes in present methods of meeting the problems of farm prices and surpluses under the crop control law enacted by the last Congress.Designed to promote greater efficiency, the changes, officials said, will require the shifting of many employees from one bureau to another but will not reduce the size of the staff, in Washington or in the field.Columnists Plead for Commission to Study Labor Issue*Hyde Park, N. Y., Oct. 7.

CALIFORNIA MAN COLLECTS $2,400 AS PENSION DUES

Investigation Reveals Huge Take by Former Defrauder

New York, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Promoters of the California Pension Plan—"Thirty Dollars Every Thursday"—one of whom was convicted in 1934 in Federal court of using the mails to defraud, are collecting $2,400 a day in small contributions from old people who hope to benefit from the proposed system, according to an investigation by Collier's.

The pension leader whose criminal record is revealed is Willis Allen, chairman of the organization, who was convicted of swindling the public through promotion of a fake hair restorer. Allen himself would not reveal to Walter Davenport, who investigated the present scheme for Collier's, the extent of his collections, but one of his associates estimated the income at $2,400 a day, which Davenport regards as conservative.

Two hundred thousand Californians are reported to have joined the movement, which is sponsoring a constitutional amendment to effect the payment by the state of $30 a week in scrip to all unemployed citizens over fifty, and the membership is increasing at the rate of 2,000 a day. Dues are a cent a day, payable at the rate of 30 cents each month in advance. In addition, Davenport states, Allen has sold 200,000 copies of the movement's bible, "Ham and Eggs for Californians," at 25 cents each, and 50,000 tiny Liberty Bells, insignia of the organization, at the same price.

Inserted Clause

In an effort to forestall any possibility that the pension amendment, if adopted, might be termed unconstitutional, the promoters have inserted in it a clause stating that "no injunction or writ of mandate or other legal or equitable process shall ever issue to interfere with the administration of this article or to prevent or enjoin any provision of this article going into effect." They then added a clause stating that "if any section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this constitution of the state of California is in conflict with any of the provisions of this article, such section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase is to the extent of such conflict hereby repealed."

In case this were not enough, the promoters of the plan concluded the proposed amendment with the statement that "in the event that any decision or order of any court shall hold invalid or unconstitutional any provision, section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this article, or the application thereof to any person or circumstance, such decision or order shall not effect the validity of the remaining portions of this article."

Davenport states that thousands of persons who are not themselves eligible for the pension but who have dependents who are, plan to vote for the amendment on the theory that "it may be a racket and maybe it won't work, but more than a couple of weeks, but that will be sixty dollars more than I ever got before for one vote."

He estimates that if the amendment is adopted 500,000 persons will sign up for $30 every Thursday, which in one year would result in the issuance of $780,000,000 in scrip.

Pennsylvania Demos Confident of Win

Hyde Park, N. Y., Oct. 7.—(AP)—The top members of the Pennsylvania Democratic ticket had a political talk Thursday with President Roosevelt, and reported they had told him the party would win by 200,000 in that state in the November elections.

David Lawrence, Pennsylvania secretary of state, said Roosevelt had not been invited to speak in the state because members of the delegation had known beforehand he did not plan such a talk.

It had been widely supposed that the president would be urged to go into the state, where the Democrats suffered earlier in the year from bitter primary fights which put Senator Guffey and Governor Earle, now the nominee for Senate as Guffey's colleague, on different tickets, and split the labor vote.

European Money is Invested in States

Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)—A high treasury official said today much of the more than $600,000,000 of foreign money which fled here from the European crisis is now flowing into American investments.

"At first," he explained, "these foreigners wanted only to put their money into American bank deposits for safekeeping while war threatened at home."

"Now that it looks like there will be no war, they are looking around for profitable uses for their money."

Foreign investments in this country already aggregate more than $7,000,000,000.

In Politics

Report of Activities of State Candidates During Today

Galesburg, Ill., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Limited to non-political speeches by Illinois' current aspirants for senatorial honors, the 80th anniversary celebration of the Lincoln-Douglas debate on the Knox College campus today was preceded by an argument over campaign itineraries.

Republican leaders charged that Scott W. Lucas, Democratic nominee for senator, cancelled a Monmouth meeting tonight because Richard J. Lyons, Republican candidate, is to speak there at the same hour.

"Apparently Mr. Lucas is not only afraid to debate Mr. Lyons but also is afraid to appear in the same town at the same time," said A. K. Stiles, Republican state chairman, at Chicago.

Democratic headquarters said Lucas, who is going to Kewanee tonight, hadn't been booked for Monmouth. Republicans disagreed.

Duplicate Characters

This afternoon Lyons and Lucas, avoiding political issues, are to duplicate the cast of characters of the original Lincoln-Douglas debate, held 80 years ago today from the east steps of Old Main, central building on the Knox campus.

Abraham Lincoln then was the Republican nominee for senator, touring the state with Stephen A. Douglas to expound their views on slavery. Douglas, the Democrat, was elected.

Lyons was scheduled to be introduced first by Dr. Carter Davidson, Knox president. The Republican orator frequently has challenged his opponent to a debate, but said Lucas insisted on the non-political restriction and the right to speak last.

Under the impression both men would hold meetings at Monmouth tonight, Lyons on Monday sent a challenge to Lucas to combine the rallies and stage a debate. He learned later the Democratic candidate would be campaigning elsewhere.

Between street corner meeting at Chicago, Lyons commented that some southern states had a law requiring rival candidates to make joint appearances.

Lucas, speaking at Rock Island last night, said Republican tariff policies had been responsible for agricultural distress.

LYONS' ADDRESS

Galesburg, Ill., Oct. 7.—"A great statesman once described America as an 'indissoluble union of indivisible states'" recalled Richard J. Lyons, Republican nominee for United States senator, today as he spoke at the 80th anniversary celebration of the famed Lincoln-Douglas debate of 1858. "Under Lincoln's great leadership the Union was preserved. But the task is only half done, we must now prove that the states are indissoluble. The present battle rages around this issue."

Bound by a promise to his opponent, Scott W. Lucas, not to make a political speech nor to debate, Lyons spoke earnestly in behalf of perpetuating the union and the institutions that Lincoln fought so ably to preserve. Although the celebration was to have been in the nature of a debate, and Lyons accepted President Davidson's invitation in that belief, his opponent refused to speak on any other terms. Lyons quoted Lincoln at length on the division of duties between the state and federal government and the rights of mankind under government in order to avoid politics.

Quoted Lincoln "Lincoln directed our course in his inaugural address on March 4, 1861." Lyons said, quoting: "A majority held in restraint by constitutional checks and limitations is the only true sovereign of a free people. Whoever rejects it does, of necessity, fly to anarchy or to despotism. This country, with its institutions, belongs to the people who inhabit it. Whenever they shall grow weary of the existing government, they can exercise their constitutional right of amending it. The chief magistrate derives all his authority from the people, and they have conferred none upon him to fix the terms for the separation of the states. The people themselves can do this also if they choose; but the executive, as such, has nothing to do with it. His duty is to administer the present government, as it came into his hands and to transmit it, unimpaired by him, to his successor."

"I can recall," Lyons went on, "the admonition of Abraham Lincoln on August 2, 1864: 'It is not merely for today but for all time to come that we perpetuate for our children's children that great and free government which we have enjoyed all our lives. I am the living witness that any one of your children may look to come here as my children's father has. It is in order that each one of you may have, through this free government which we have enjoyed, an open field and a fair chance for your industry, enterprise and intelligence; that you may have equal privileges in the race of life.'"

HERSHEY'S EXPLANATION

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Chairman Harry B. Hershey of the Democratic state central committee issued this statement on postponement of a Lucas senatorial campaign address tonight in Monmouth.

"Yes, the itinerary was changed; it was changed nearly two weeks ago. We changed the itinerary so that Mr. Lyons would be assured of an audience. We knew that if Mr. Lyons and Mr. Lucas were in the same city the same night, no one would be present to hear Lyons. That would be poor politics because every time any one hears him (Lyons) speak, he decides to vote for Lucas."

ACCUSES HORNER

Pana, Ill., Oct. 7.—(AP)—William R. McCauley, Republican candidate for state treasurer, today accused Governor Horner of "representing the major oil companies" in advocating regulation of the Illinois oil industry.

"To please the big companies," McCauley said in a prepared campaign address, "Horner placed in his call for the last special session of the legislature bills for the protection, regulation and taxing of the Illinois fields."

"It was evident the big companies had a champion in the executive mansion, because . . . the proposals advanced by the big companies were aimed at destroying the independent operator . . ."

McCauley declared there should be no proration of oil output until such time as production equals the state's consumption.

UNITED SUPPORT

Chicago, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Democratic nominees in the November 8 election, at two separate meetings last night, received the endorsement of Horner-Courtney Democrats and the Kelly-Nash organization, opponents during the primary.

Statements were issued by followers of Governor Horner and State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney urging support of the county ticket nominated last April by the Nash-Kelly faction.

No official statement was made by leaders of the Kelly-Nash conference, but it was indicated the state ticket nominated by the Horner-Courtney forces was given approval. There also was a report that County Chairman P. A. Nash had signified his intention of naming a committee to work with the erstwhile opposition.

Vaccine for Horses Must Be Commercial

Washington, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Harry L. Brown, assistant secretary of agriculture, told Senator Duffy (D-Wis) that while sleeping sickness among horses had appeared in at least 30 states, farmers must obtain vaccine to fight it from commercial sources.

Brown said to supply vaccine to the states would entail a considerable federal expenditure and would require a special appropriation. He said the department had issued licenses permitting various concerns to manufacture and sell the vaccine.

The assistant secretary said Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Illinois, nearly all states west of the Mississippi and seven along the Atlantic seaboard had reported sleeping sickness among horses.

He suggested farmers needing financial assistance because of loss of animals from the disease should discuss their circumstances with county rehabilitation supervisors who represented the farm security administration. He said perhaps some of the farmers could qualify for loans.

BRITISH WOMAN CHARGES NATION WITH DEFEATISM

London, Oct. 7.—(AP)—Miss Ellen C. Wilkerson, labor member of Parliament, has charged "influential people in this country" with a "defeatist attitude," especially regarding the might of Germany's air force.

During the House of Commons debate on the Munich accord she asserted this attitude had been expressed to "a very prominent American airman" who had been "lunched by these people." Her hearers believed she referred to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh.

She said the "influential people" had told Adolf Hitler and Joachim Von Ribbentrop, former German ambassador to London and now foreign minister in Berlin, that in no circumstances would Britain fight for Czechoslovakia. She continued:

"It is a very serious thing that when a very prominent American airman was being lunched by these people and all sorts of official people were invited to meet him, they assured him it was impossible for this country to do anything because Germany's air force was better than the Russian, British and French combined.

"That is a defeatist attitude behind the scenes."

(Colonel Lindbergh lived in England until last June, when he took up residence on the Island of Ilic, off France's Brittany coast. Shortly before his departure he was entertained by members of the British nobility, among them Lady Astor. He visited Germany in October, 1937, and had unusual opportunities to inspect German aviation. He made a similar visit to Russia this summer.)

Reward Offered for Tower Destroyers

Carbondale, Ill., Oct. 7.—(AP)—Sheriffs of four southern Illinois counties have joined forces in offering a reward of $2,000 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the persons who recently dynamited two steel towers carrying high tension electric power lines.

A tower on the "tap" leading into Murphysboro from the Central Illinois Public Service company's main line was blasted Sept. 15. Two weeks later an explosion wrecked a tower on the main line between the Murphysboro tap and the Grand Tower plant.

The sheriffs of Franklin, Williamson and Saline counties joined Sheriff Ross J. Ozburn of Jackson county in posting the reward. There have been dynamiting and other depredations in the other counties in recent years.

SPAIN SEEKING TO AVOID FATE OF CZECH STATE

Barcelona, October 7.—(AP)—Julio Alvarez Del Vayo, Spanish government foreign minister, declared yesterday that government Spain was determined to avoid the fate of Czechoslovakia and to fight until the country was "free from foreign invasion."

* In an address prepared for international broadcast, Alvarez Del Vayo asserted:

"The terrible and monstrous experience of what has taken place in Europe within the last few days has increased the Spanish people's resolution not to permit Spain to be sacrificed to the policy of capitulation."

This policy of capitulation, he said, "menaces the existence of small nations and places European democracies in ever increasing danger of disappearing."

(Spanish government spokesmen in Paris said a plan to divide Spain into two nations, one a democracy and the other a dictatorship, had been broached to the government and rejected.)

(The plan, which they indicated was brought up by "certain powers" at the four-power Munich accord which decided on partition of Czechoslovakia, was said to have been a part of international discussions aimed at ending the Spanish war as part of a general European settlement.)
